

Has your medicine changed?

If you or someone you care for takes the same medicine regularly, you may find that the prescription will change.

There are lots of reasons why your medicines may change:

- New treatments becoming available
- New evidence about the benefits of a drug
- Ensuring value for money for the NHS

Before any change is made, a healthcare professional will have checked to ensure that the new medicine is suitable for you.

Although your new medication may look different, it will be as effective and quite possibly even better for you.

If you have any questions about a change to your medication, speak to your pharmacist.
